PRONOUNS: WHO, WHOM, WHOEVER, WHOMEVER

In the following sentences write the appropriate word: who, whom, whoever, or whomever.

EXAMPLE: Who did you say was going to cycle to Dover?

1. Is that the woman ________ lives across the street?
2. The Smith brothers, ____________ Louis invited to dinner, own a candy store.
3. Bill McKay, ____________ your mother prefers, is taking Lucy to a picnic.
4. __________ did Verna say wanted to volunteer to collect donations?
5. __________ wanted Verna to volunteer to collect donations?
6. Mr. Anders, ________ is a spotter at Smart Cleaners, plays softball.
7. Mr. Anders, ________ you introduced to Joe, is a spotter in a cleaners.
8. __________ does David like to call for gardening advice?
9. __________ comes in to do the electrical work is well paid.
10. Ms. Sanchez, ____________ dances in Jose Greco’s troupe, is from Mexico City.
11. ____________ do you think will run for representative-at-large?
12. ____________ do you think Lin will recommend for representative-at-large?
14. Rob Sikes, ________ sits next to Ann, buys his shoes and socks to match.
15. To ________ did you address that postcard?
16. ____________ you mailed that postcard to must have received it.
17. ____________ received that postcard must have been surprised.
18. __________ has Senator Terry spoken against?
19. __________ has spoken against Senator Terry’s bills this session?
20. _________ had Fink recommended for the opening in Ohio?
21. _________ had recommended Fink for the opening in Ohio?
22. You may speak to _________ you wish.
23. Marian will speak to _________ comes to the meeting.
24. _____________ the hostess chose had to serve the coffee
25. The sponsor will ride with _____________ drives safely